

June 8, 2007

Through the efforts of West Virginia Housing Institute Inc. Co-President Steve Brown and his lawyer, Jason Stemple of Huntington, the Department of Transportation has decided to rescind its decision to require the licensing of our salespersons. I was notified of the decision today by the DOT. Each of you should soon be receiving a letter informing you of the decision. We can thank Gov. Manchin, whose office was open to discussing our concerns and helped make this decision possible.
