State regulators license five contractors

CHARLESTON – The state board that oversees the factory-built housing business in West Virginia licensed five contracting firms to work in the manufactured housing industry.

Granted licenses during a teleconference meeting of the West Virginia Manufactured Housing Construction and Safety Standards Board were:

- K&T Construction, LLC, of Fairmont
- Break-A-Way, LLC, of Albright
- 4 Phase Drywall, Inc., of Beaver
- Dan's Electric of Grafton
- Gearhart Heating & Cooling, Inc., of Princeton.

The board said it would have another teleconference before meeting at its regular session at 10 a.m. Nov. 8 in Charleston.
